

Cross-Border Innovation Competences: What future global entrepreneurs need to learn – insights from a European comparative study

Professor Jan M. Pawlowski, University of Jyväskylä, Finland

Abstract:

What are the competences current and future entrepreneurs need? In the European project Pla4Guidance, a comparative study was performed aiming to understand the future needs for innovation and entrepreneurship. This presentation analyzes the results in a broader context: How can we arrange international collaborations better and how can we prepare students to be successful globally? What are the key skills and in particular attitudes? The presentation will not fully answer this question but should stimulate a discussion how to prepare and promote collaborative innovation between Asia and Europe.
